

How to access to databases from outside the campus

The screenshot shows the homepage of the Osaka University Library. At the top left is the library logo and name in Japanese and English. To the right are language options (日本語) and a site search box. Below this is a navigation bar with links for Find, Research, Use, About Us, Four Libraries, and Web Service. A banner image shows a library interior and a group of people. Below the banner are two main sections: 'Quick Search' on the left and 'Quick Links' on the right. The 'Quick Search' section includes tabs for Catalogue, E-Journals, E-Books, Databases, and Discovery, along with a search input field and a search button. The 'Quick Links' section contains several icons for services: View Borrowing and Hold Status, Reserve Rooms, Workshop and Guidance, Learning Support, Off Campus Access (circled in blue), Ask Us, and Osaka University Repository. A green cartoon frog character is positioned at the bottom center of the screenshot.

At first, please visit our library's website.

Second, click on “Off Campus Access” in the right column.

Off Campus Access

You can access e-resources (e-journals, e-books and databases) that Osaka University subscribes from home or business trip destinations. When you are within the campus of Osaka University, please use e-resources by clicking each tab of “E-Journals”, “E-Books” and Databases on Library’s website.
